WE NEED MORE STAKE MISSIONARIES, SAYS NEW MISSION PRESIDENT

"The field is ripe for harvest, and there is no richer harvest that can be had than right in our own neighborhood," is the sentiment with which President Oscar Fontana, head of Oakland Stake Mission, begins his new labors. Our mission is one of the oldest and most successful in the Church, but right now it is suffering from a depletion of workers due to numerous releases, and the first job of the new head is to build up a new missionary group in each ward. Stake missionaries are called to labor in a manner similar to foreign missionaries, but are not expected to put in full time. They are expected to devote the equivalent of two or more evenings per week to the service, and specific instructions have been received from the general authorities that those called are to be relieved of all other ward and Stake assignments. It is the aim to rotate this work among all ward members so that all may have a taste of missionary experience and grasp its importance. To that end President Fontana will be contacting each bishop to ascertain the names of those available for this work.

President Fontana was born in Switzerland, September 2, 1886; he was educated there, and reared a member of the Roman Catholic Church. However, he was restless and when 17 began to cast about for a religion that would more nearly satisfy his longings. At this time, and after earnest prayer, he came across a pamphlet entitled "Joseph Smith and the Gospel of Jesus Christ." It led him to an intensive investigation and contact with some members of the Church. He was baptized in the summer of 1905. Two years later he was married and reared a family of twelve children, ten of whom are still living.

In 1924 he came to California and has remained here since. He has occupied many positions in the Church; at present, in addition to his newly assigned missionary duties, he is senior president of the 247th Quorum of Seventy. He has been engaged in our Stake mission since its organization. When set apart as its latest president he expressed himself as being grateful because he loves to preach the gospel.

GREEN AND GOLD BALL SUCCESSFUL

Probably the largest crowd ever to attend the leading social function of the season filled the Scottish Rite ball room to capacity for the annual Green and Gold Ball March 15th. The crowd was so large that it was even uncomfortable to dance at times. Highlight of the evening was the crowning of the queen. This year Miss Doris Gilbert of Vallejo ward was the successful candidate. The coronation was followed with an exhibition of the new M. I. A. dance very gracefully done.

A NEW WARD IS BORN

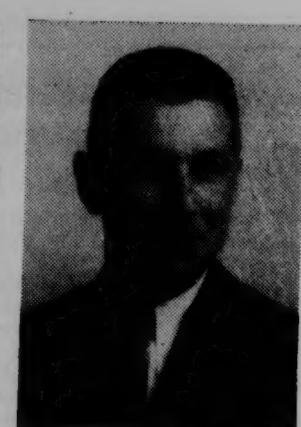

Above is pictured the first Sunday school of Maxwell Park ward, held March 10th at the Masonic Temple on Foothill, Oakland. The meeting was attended by 177 people. President Hilton presided and the time was consumed in presenting and sustaining the heads of various departments and in timely instruction.

Bishop Robert T. Paine chose as his first and second counselors, Elders Clarence J. Brossard and Truman Nethercott. Elder Brossard, a native of Richmond, Utah, spent most of his early life in Idaho on a cattle ranch. He later attended the Utah Agricultural College, then moved to California in 1913 as general manager of the Wattis Realty and Live Stock Company. He came to Oakland in 1926 and is associated with the Pacific Gas & Electric Company. He has been very active in Church work, and for a time was in the Dimond ward bishopric. Elder Nethercott is a young man who has been very popular in younger circles in the Stake, very active in both Sunday School and M. I. A.

ERRATUM

THE MESSENGER regrets that in its last issue the name of Bishop Robert T. Paine of Maxwell Park ward was incorrectly spelled.

Clarence J. Brossard Truman Nethercott

The spirit of the new ward was evidenced by the announcement of Bishop Paine that regular meetings would be held in all departments from the very beginning, in spite of the fact that at the time the announcement was made, full organization was not completed.

STAKE VANBALL TOURNAMENT PROGRESSING

The Oakland Stake vanball tournament got underway March 14 at the Frick Junior High in Oakland, with three teams entered. The first evening contests were very close, with two out of the six games played going to duce, which requires extra periods of play to decide the winners. The remainder of the tournament will be played on Thursday nights at 8:00 until a winner is decided. The winning team in the Stake will be awarded a vanball championship pennant, which is now being made by George E. Southgate, Berkeley tailor. The tournament is sponsored by the Stake Scout-Explorer committee. Reed Smith is vanball chairman. The games are free and anyone interested is invited to come out and enjoy them.

Team standings as THE MESSENGER goes to press are as follows:

	Won	Lost
Claremont	1	0
Dimond	0	1
Elmhurst	1	1

WARD TEACHERS' MESSAGE FOR APRIL, 1940

Family Prayer

"All things whatsoever ye shall ask in prayer believing, ye shall receive."

Matt. 21:22.

From the dawn of history, prayer has been one of man's greatest sources of comfort, solace, faith, and power.

In our Church both individual and family prayer have been taught from the beginning. There has been no change in that teaching. Latter-day Saints are urged to engage in both secret and family prayer.

In the revelations (see Doctrine and Covenants, Section 66, revelation on prayer, and Section 68, verses 28 and 33) it is made clear that members of the Church are to pray and to teach their children to pray. These instructions are given:

Fray unto the Lord, call upon His holy name . . . And they shall teach their children to pray and to walk uprightly before the Lord. . . . And a commandment I give unto them, that he that observeth not his prayers before the Lord in the season therefore, let him be had in remembrance before the judge of my people.

In days like these, described a hundred years ago in prophecy as "the days to come," that family which engages in regular family prayer is unified, strengthened, and fortified against temptation and trouble. Today in thousands of Latter-day Saint homes this important duty is discharged religiously and the blessings of the Lord are received. In other homes it has ceased. This is regrettable.

What should we pray for? The Lord's Prayer answers that question. It is a model. The Savior said: "After this manner shall ye pray." Some may say, "Why should we pray audibly when the Lord can understand our very thoughts?" If we were speaking directly to Him would we not speak audibly?

Brigham Young said:

In our family circles let every heart be united with the one who takes the lead by being mouth before the Lord, and let every person mentally repeat the prayers and all unite in whatever is asked for, and the Lord will not withhold, but will give to such persons the things which they ask for and rightly need.

The principal objective of Ward Teaching suggested for April, 1940, is to bring about a revival of the practice of family prayer in the homes of the Saints.

MESSAGE OF THE STAKE PRESIDENCY

Dear Brothers and Sisters:

In many respects the growth of Oakland Stake, since its organization five years ago, is nothing short of phenomenal. We lack but a few of having as many people as there were on the records of the old San Francisco Stake at the time of the division. This growth has been reflected in the creation of two new branches, two new wards, and the promotion of one branch into a ward. All this has been done that the Church may better serve its members.

One of the big problems which confronts us is the providing of suitable social and recreational facilities for our young people. In a metropolitan area where amusement is highly commercialized and temptations are rampant, where there are a thousand and one things to compete with us for the attention of our young folk, this problem becomes a serious one indeed. It can be properly and successfully solved only through understanding and united effort.

We are glad to note the healthy condition of our M. I. A., a most potent tool in this work. Real progress has been made, especially in the past year, in providing a wholesome program of entertainment. On the whole, the ward group parties have been very successful. There is, of course, room for improvement, and it is the desire and expectation of your Stake Presidency that those in charge will carefully analyze the picture so that further progress will be registered during the coming year.

In this connection we desire especially to call to the attention of all officers and teachers of M. I. A. and Primary, the fact that theirs is a year-round program. Too much emphasis has been placed in the past, unfortunately, upon a season for these organizations which coincides with the school year. This tends to leave our young people unprovided for during the vacation season—the very time when supervision is most needed. We cannot emphasize too strongly, therefore, the desirability of getting acquainted with and inaugurating the summer program outlined for these organizations by the general boards. We hope to see during the summer coming, these summer programs in full operation. It can be done, we believe, without sacrificing individual vacations if only the work be properly planned, and the dividends which will result will, we are sure, more than justify the effort.

As we have grown in numbers in this Stake, let us strive likewise to increase the quality of our work.

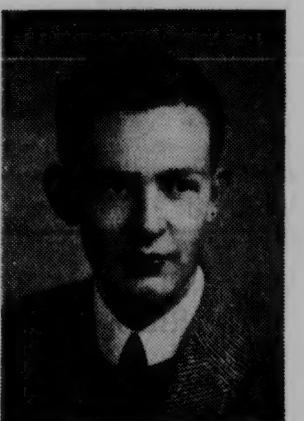

Faithfully yours,

EUGENE HILTON,
W. GLENN HARMON,
CLYDE J. SUMMERHAYS.

MISSIONARIES GONE AND GOING

Jack C. Dewsnap

THE MESSENGER regrets not having a photograph of her to publish at this time, but that will follow in an early issue.

The first missionary from Richmond ward for quite some time is Elder Jack C. Dewsnap, son of Claude M. and Nettie Dewsnap, for whom a farewell party will be given in the Richmond chapel on April 10. He goes to the east central states. Jack was born July 30, 1919, in Richmond. After graduating from high school he attended the San Francisco Junior College. He has been active in various ward offices, having recently been appointed Aaronic priesthood supervisor.

RELIEF SOCIETY BIRTHDAY FITTINGLY OBSERVED

Throughout Oakland Stake the ninety-eighth birthday of the Women's Relief Society was observed on March 17. Special programs were rendered in all wards on Sunday evening, the highlight of which was a pageant written for the occasion by the Relief Society Stake board and depicting the history of this world's oldest women's organization.

Typical of the work carried on by throughout its life was the creation of its wheat fund. In 1875 President Brigham Young, realizing the importance of an adequate food supply for the isolated pioneers in Utah, conferred with Mrs. Emmeline B. Wells, president of the Relief Society, and under her direction the work of gleaning the fields was undertaken. Like Ruth of old, the women, assisted by children and girls, gleaned the fields of their respective neighborhoods, carrying the wheat in their aprons to their special repository.

Women living in cities and towns having no opportunity to glean fields donated cash, made and sold quilts and other articles, set aside funds from sale of Sunday-laid eggs. Gradually hundreds of thousands of dollars worth of grain were acquired, stored in the society's own granaries or in church elevators against time of need.

And many unfortunate people in all parts of the world have reason to bless these women gleaners. In 1906 and upon the heels of the earthquake, a carload of wheat was sent to San Francisco, followed by a carload of bedding and hospital supplies. Later a carload of flour was sent to sufferers in a Mississippi flood. In 1918, 100,000 bushels of wheat were turned over to the government for distribution. And a second consignment of over 100,000 bushels was sold to the food administration at a price fixed by the government. And it all came from gleaning.

The New York Herald-Tribune stated that, "Mr. Hoover also has written the first presidency expressing the appreciation of the food administration for such an action, since it yields not only a substantial addition of sorely needed food for allied and American soldiers, but furnishes also an example felt far outside the field of its immediate application."

ONE WHO KNEW THE PROPHET

By ISAAC B. BALL

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the sixth installment of a short biography of Joseph Mayberry, father of Sister Josephine Mayberry Braley of Claremont ward. Another installment will appear in an early issue.)

Our last installment contained young Mayberry's description (he was then in his twentieth year) of the sad days in Nauvoo when word was received of the martyrdom of Joseph the Prophet and Hyrum the Patriarch, June 27, 1844.

But the Church and the work of Zion went on. Our diarist records: "On August the 8th 1844, a meeting was called by the Twelve Apostles to decide upon the one who should stand in the Prophet's place at the head of the Church . . . At the meeting Sidney Rigdon arose, and made a lengthy speech, setting forth his qualifications and his right to stand at the head of the Church. But he had made but very little impression upon those assembled when he sat down.

"Brigham Young arose. His appearance was like that of the Prophet Joseph Smith. The mantle of the Prophet rested upon him. His voice was like that of the Prophet as he said, 'I am the man to lead this people.'

"Of course this was true, because he had been for years the president of the Quorum of the Twelve Apostles."

At this critical point in his simple diary, Brother Mayberry dramatically declares his personal testimony of the divine calling that rested that day upon President Brigham Young. He writes: "I, Joseph Mayberry, have this to say: I was there; I saw the transfiguration. I heard his voice. I knew he was the man chosen by the Lord to lead His people. We accepted him as our leader, and were willing to do whatever he called upon us to do."

The saints in Nauvoo again took up their duties of completing the Nauvoo Temple, securing their endowments, and preparing to leave Nauvoo for an unknown home in the west. All of this was done under the greatest difficulties because of the persecutions of their enemies who followed the martyrdom of the Prophet with unlawful demands that the body of the saints leave the state and abandon their farms, their temple and all their possessions.

Soon after being ordained a seventy—he was then just twenty-one—he records: "On Sunday evening, February 23, 1845, at a seventy's meeting held in Nauvoo, John D. Lee, presiding, asked for thirteen men to volunteer to do donation work in a brick factory for the temple. I was the fourth man to volunteer my services. I donated four months for the temple, and two months for tithing."

Three months and a day after he began making brick for the temple, the saints could assemble to see President Young lay its cornerstone. This was "at six o'clock in the morning, amidst solemn services. After this we all shouted for joy, 'Hosanna, Hosanna, Hosanna!' to God and the Lamb! Amen, Amen, Amen!" Thousands were assembled there. The Spirit of the Lord rested upon us, and we knew that the temple had been accepted of the Lord."

"The temple was opened for endowments in October, 1844. The first presidency, apostles and their wives were the first to receive their endowments in the Nauvoo Temple. This was because they were expected to be the first to leave for the west to find a place for the saints to locate permanently."

"On January 6, 1845, the temple was open to the saints for all to enter who were worthy of recommendation and endowments. On the 8th of January, my mother, my brothers, Gabriel and David, and I went through the temple and received our endowments; the great recompence! the fruit of our many sacrifices! On account of mob violence the temple was closed for a few days, opening on the 7th of February, 1845, when my brother Thomas and my father, John Mayberry, received their endowments, while on the following day my sister, Mary, received her endowments and was married to Robert Collins."
